

The image shows a rectangular page layout. A vertical yellow line runs down the center, dividing the page into two equal halves. The left half contains the text "Last page" and the right half contains the text "Cover". The page is framed by a blue border on the outside and a red border on the inside. A green border is also present, slightly inside the red border. There are small black tick marks at the corners of the page, indicating alignment or registration marks.
